Parents and Coaches Workshop:

Who Are Your Kids Online?

Brought to you by the Islamic Speakers Bureau

Faraz Iqbal & Aliya Naim

Caldwell 304

With the rise of social media, the young mind is being exposed to information that in many cases is not suitable or appropriate. The mobility of the devices and the lightning speed at which information travels they have access to a world of endless possibilities, but also a world of endless threats. Coupling anonymity, one can pretend to be someone one is not. Who are your children online, and what is this virtual world available to them at their fingertips? How can parents and adults empower our young and beautiful minds as they step into this virtual world? How can they derive benefit from it?
